The American 929-428 Design with its bold combination of exterior building materials, elicits interest outside, while inside, a practical design creates space in the home's economical floor plan. This roof design can be customised to suit local planning authorities.

To maximize space, the foyer, great room, dining room and kitchen are completely open to one another. A cathedral ceiling spans the great room and kitchen, expanding the rooms vertically.

The bedrooms are split for ultimate master suite privacy, and a cathedral ceiling caps the master bedroom for an added sense of space. Two family bedrooms, a hall and bathroom are located on the opposite side of the home.
